

SOLIDARITY PRINCIPLES

As supporters and allies, we are walking alongside migrant workers in support of their call for justice. We thank the individuals, community organizations and unions who are making this commitment of solidarity.

We want to make sure this pilgrimage creates spaces for workers to share their stories with the Canadian public and media. Thus, in relation to media, we are asking supporters to step back and respect that this will be a space for workers to be in the spotlight if they so wish.

Workers that are participating and organizing the pilgrimage have spent many hours making signs, placards and banners for this event so that their voices and their messages are the focus this pilgrimage. Therefore we are asking unions and other organizations to support the creation of this space for workers voices by ensuring workers messages and signs are at the forefront of the march and by being respectful of the placement, size and numbers of the signs and flags you use.
